PROGRAM NOTES FOR OUR STATE LIBRARY MEETING

Section program chairmen — Mrs. Juanita Cole, College Libraries; Miss Juanita Campbell, School Libraries; and Mrs. Ann Veazey of Public County and Regional Libraries—are planning interesting and inspirational programs for our Arkansas Library Association Annual Conference.

All general meetings and some sectional meetings will be held in the Ballroom of the Marion Hotel.

College Librarian Club members will be in the receiving line at the reception following the address Monday night.

Recent graduates of library schools will be honored at the Library Schools Breakfast Tuesday, October 21, at 8:00 A. M.

Visiting the Old State House will be one of the highlights of the Conference.

Miss Mary Sue Shepherd, vice-president, is general chairman of the conference program, Monday and Tuesday, October 20-21, at Hotel Marion.

The exhibits will be arranged in the room adjoining the Ballroom

CAMP CHAFFEE LIBRARY MUCH LIKE CIVILIAN SISTERS

By Corporal W. E. Conners

The Post Library of Camp Chaffee is operated exactly like its civilian counterparts—with the exception of its "customers".

It seems that trainees and cadre personnel rely upon the Post Library for all information from telephone numbers to dates.

Recently, a certain Private First Class strolled nonchalantly into the library, laid his card on the desk and asked: "Can I check out the librarian for a down-town dance?"

Some people have an impression that libraries are rather dull places, but not so at Chaffee. The up-to-date Post Library is attractively furnished with modern furniture, fluorescent lighting, and a good cooling system. It is staffed by highly trained personnel.

There are several sections of the Chaffee Library, including the Medical, Judge Advocate (legal), Engineers, Quartermaster and Hospital libraries. These different sections contain a total of 11,222 books ranging from a children's selection to technical and field manuals.

The main post library is headed by Miss Marguerite DeGroote of Syracuse, N. Y., a Special Services librarian, a civilian secretary and one enlisted man. Other sections, located in different buildings, employ various numbers of people, depending upon the size of the section.

In addition to the many books available to personnel here, there is a music room with a record player in the main library and a collection of 1500 records that may be checked out, just like books.

"We lose very few books", said Miss DeGroote. "Considering that we check out about 70 books on an average day, we handle about 25,000 books in a year. Of that number, we lose less than 50 books."

The library is often referee and final judge in disputes. The two sides, upon reaching a stalemate, come to the library for a decision.

In one instance, two trainees rather bashfully asked for information on coat buttons. They had been arguing for two weeks as to why men button their coats on one side and women on the other. The library provided this answer: In days gone by, men often carried swords under their coats, and in some cases were forced to make a quick draw. Buttons were arranged to make this easier and quicker.

One trainee walked in just before closing time, grasping a dead snake. He "just wanted to know what kind it was." He had killed it in his pup tent while on bivouac. The library supplied the identification, but refused to co-operate when the soldier wanted to sell the snake's body.

Another soldier, an instructor, asked for the "love life" of a butterfly. Not knowing just where to look for this information, Corporal "Buddy" Bishop, New Orleans, questioned the man more closely and discovered that he wanted to know the life cycle of the butterfly. The soldier needed the information for one of his classes.

The children's section of the library does a booming business. According to Miss DeGroote, children are among the most eager people who visit the library.

"They make a bee-line for the fairy tales before they get inside the door," she smiled. "It is fun to watch them, and in a way it is very gratifying to see them run to the books."

Library work is not all play and humor, however; for they, like any section in the army, must stand inspections. Did you ever have to dust and straighten 11,000 books?

DO YOU KNOW THAT—?

Columbia University will offer courses leading to the degree of Doctor of Library Science, starting in the fall. The announcement has been made by Dr. Carl M. White, dean of the University's School of Library Service. Columbia thus becomes the fourth school in the nation offering doctoral study in library service.

The new degree, approved by the Trustees of Columbia and the New York State Board of Regents, "embodies the University's recognition that the work of a librarian has become a scholarly pursuit," Dean White said.

Arkansas people who received the Master of Arts degree with a major in library science from Peabody College, August 1952, are:

Ruth Clawson, librarian, Rogers High School

Mrs. Marie Eubank, librarian, Newport High School

Mrs. Lucy Finley, assistant librarian, Henderson State Teachers College

Ellen Key, librarian, Searcy High School.

Mrs. Herbert Lawrence, teacher-librarian, Pangburn High School.

Mavis Rodman, librarian, Wilson High School

Lena Belle Rotton, librarian, Corn-ing High School

Lucille Slater, librarian, Union County Library, El Dorado

Elsie Weisenberger, librarian, North Little Rock Public Library.

Master of Arts degree with a major in library science from University of Denver:

Mrs. Opal Walters, librarian, Jonesboro Senior High School.

Bachelor of Science in Library Science:

Minnie Dee Gay, librarian, West Memphis High School

Bachelor of Science in Library Science from Louisiana University:

Mrs. D. G. Griffiths, librarian, Woodruff County Library, Augusta.

COUNTY ADVISOR FOR SCHOOL LIBRARIES

Mrs. W. B. Burkett, chairman, Mississippi County Library Board, announced August 20, 1952, the appointment of Miss Mavis Rodman, Calico Rock, Arkansas, as county advisor for school libraries. Miss Rodman received the Master of Arts degree with a major in library science from George Peabody College, Nashville, Tennessee, August 1952. Miss

Rodman has had experience as a teacher and as a school librarian. She is serving her fourth year as librarian, Wilson Public Schools, Wilson, Arkansas. Each Saturday during the school year Miss Rodman will give in-service training for school librarians and teachers at the Mississippi County Library, Osceola, Arkansas.

Miss Eula McDougal, librarian, Mississippi County Library, stated that objectives of the in-service program under Miss Rodman's direction are:

1. An active county association of school librarians, teacher-librarians, and interested teachers.
2. Cooperation between public and school libraries in the county.
3. Examination and evaluation of new books and other teaching materials.

4. An increased knowledge of the state and national library programs.
5. Organization of student assistants' library clubs in school libraries.
6. Recruitment for librarianship.
7. Presentation of value of library science knowledge to teachers and students.

A ONE-MILL TAX FOR LIBRARIES IN ARKANSAS

Letters have been received at the Arkansas Library Commission from librarians and friends of the library who are seeking the passage of the one-mill tax for library support in their counties. The Arkansas Library Commission wishes to help these people. Your help will also be appreciated in the passage of the tax if you live in these areas.

Mrs. L. E. Chiles, and Waldron Garden Club are sponsoring the tax measure in Scott County; Mrs. Terry Griffith and Cleburne County Library Board in Cleburne County; Miss Florene Jordan and LaFayette County Library Board in LaFayette

County; Mrs. F. R. Young and Hot Spring County Board in the county outside Malvern; Mrs. Nell Powell Wright and the Business and Professional Women's Club, Baxter County; Miss Presta Ritter and the American Association of University Women, Greene County.

R. M. Rowan, Jr. and the Camden Junior Chamber of Commerce are interested in tax support for a library in Ouachita County. Mrs. Hubert C. Smith and the Business and Professional Women as well as the Home Demonstration Clubs are studying plans for library service in Madison County.

NEWS NOTES

The Wyoming Library Roundup is reprinting in its October 1952 issue the article written by our own Mrs. Hazel Deal and published in ARKANSAS LIBRARIES for last April. The article was titled, "Organization and Operation of the Branch Library".

Improvements recently made at the Holman school for Negro children in Stuttgart include a large library in the old elementary school building.

Cross County Free Public Library has been declared a legally constituted institution in a statement issued by Judge Homer Mitchell. Judge Mitchell has appointed a six-member board of trustees to administer library operation. According to Mr. M. M. Hinesley of Wynne, chairman, "the board recognizes their first job as one of selling the people of Cross county on supporting and using their library".

Mrs. Harley Melton began work September 2 as public librarian at Ozark, to succeed Mrs. Junius Clayton, resigned.

Arkansas poetry, was in charge of Mrs. Marie Erwin Ward. Mrs. Neva McMillan Upton was chairman for the Poetry Day Dinner at the Albert Pike Hotel, which climaxed activities for the celebration.

A unique workshop was held at Camp Wyldewood near Searcy, Arkansas, by the White County Education Association on September 5-6, 1952. All teachers in White County attended the two-day session. After meeting in a general session, the teachers divided into groups for sectional meetings on Health, Social Studies, English, Library Science, etc. Mrs. Louis Dunaway, Arkansas State Teachers College, Mr. Dean Whiteside, Arkansas State Department of Education, Mrs. Karl Neal, Arkansas Library Commission, and Miss Freddy Schader, Arkansas Library Commission, acted as consultants for the library section. The sessions were devoted to discussing library problems, showing new audiovisual material for libraries, and considering new ideas for bulletin boards and library activities.

"School Library Quarters", a filmstrip in color by Virginia McJenkin and Kathleen Moon, which has recently been released by the American Library Association, has been purchased by the Arkansas Library Commission. Arkansas librarians who attended the Emory University Library Institute were privileged to see this filmstrip, which is available upon request to libraries and other interested groups in the state.

The Arkansas Citizens Committee for the celebration of United Nations Day, October 24, and representatives of 75 community organizations met in the Governor's reception room September 30 to plan for the observance of the day in Arkansas. Mrs. Merlin M. Moore, chairman, is asking the cooperation of all Arkansas librarians toward making a success of the celebration of United Nations Day.

Mrs. Louis K. Hundley of Pine Bluff, chairman of Women's activities, National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, reports that in response to her open letter on education of the public in regard to polio, Arkansas librarians requested a total of 32,000 polio pledges to be distributed to their library clientele.

The Library Institute at Emory University August 4-9 was attended with considerable advantage both professionally and otherwise to seven practicing librarians from Arkansas: Mrs. Mittie Shanks, librarian, Joseph T. Robinson school, Pulaski county; Miss Lucy Sanders, librarian, Phillips county, Helena; Mrs. Mabel Phillips, librarian, Fulton county, Salem; Mrs. Karl Neal, then acting executive secretary and librarian, Arkansas Library Commission, Little Rock; Miss Elizabeth Malone, librarian, Jonesboro and Craighead county; Mrs. Terry Griffith, librarian, Cleburne-Independence Regional Library, Batesville; and Miss La Nell Compton, cataloger, Arkansas Library Commission, Little Rock.

Miss Mary Sue Shepherd, librarian, Pulaski county, furnished the bookmobile as an exhibit place for a display co-sponsored by the libraries of Pulaski county, North Little Rock and Little Rock and the Arkansas Library Commission, during the annual Livestock Show, September 29-October 4.

An official proclamation by Governor Sid McMath announced the observation of Arkansas Poetry Day on October 15, 1952. Mrs. Rosa Z. Marinoni, state Poetry Day chairman, was named coordinator for the celebration in Arkansas sponsored by the Arkansas branch, National League of American Pen Women, Arkansas Authors and Composers Society and Poets Roundtable of Arkansas. Mrs. Vera Blood Fletcher of Hot Springs was general radio chairman in charge of Poetry Day programs presented over twenty-five radio stations. A Poetry Day Fair, with exhibits of

The Fund for Adult Education—an independent organization established by the Ford Foundation—has inaugurated a program in liberal education known as Test Cities Project. Little Rock is one of the twelve cities involved in the program. Little Rock Junior College has been designated as the sponsoring agency. The American Heritage Project, also inaugurated by the Fund for Adult Education, will sponsor a Leader training program for group discussion leaders during October at Jefferson City, Missouri. Arkansas is privileged to send one person who will be chairman of the project for Little Rock. Mr. John Shamburger has been named chairman, and Mrs. Merlin M. Moore co-chairman. Little Rock Public Library is the sponsoring agency.

Mrs. Catharine Chew, librarian, Little Rock Public Library, and Mrs. Karl Neal, then acting executive secretary and librarian, Arkansas Library Commission, attended the Post ALA Conference Workshop tour of New York libraries July 6, 7 and 8, 1952. This tour was sponsored by the New York State Library (L. Marion Moshier is director of its Library Extension Division) and the ALA Public Libraries Division (S. Janice Kee is executive secretary); it was intended to afford observation and evaluation of larger units of library service.

After her return from the ALA annual conference in New York City, Miss Mary Elizabeth Upton, librarian at Veterans Hospital, Little Rock, received on a request loan from ALA headquarters the tape recordings of speeches made at the meeting by Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt and Norman Cousins. Staff members from the Little Rock Public Library and the Arkansas Library Commission were invited to an audience of the recordings and afterwards were served refreshments.

Members of the Arkansas Library Association are invited to attend the meeting of the Southwestern Regional Library Association to be held in Mexico City, November 24-26, 1952. All programs of the Conference will be scheduled on these days, Monday through Wednesday, so as to leave the remainder of the week for visiting and sightseeing. Tours scheduled before or after the conference may be arranged through Lona Tours, Inc., one of Mexico's long established firms. Mr. Edmond Low, librarian, Oklahoma A. and M., Stillwater, is president of Southwestern Regional Library Association.

The fall season brings on many changes—several of which have occurred at the Arkansas Library Commission. At the beginning of the fall school term Miss Melrose Brashears, secretary to Mrs. Karl Neal, resigned to begin her studies at Ouachita College. And now, you will find Miss Virginia Gertig sitting at the secretarial desk. The loan department has a new clerical assistant, Mrs. Hazel Howard Isgrig, former principal at Mitchell School, Little Rock. During the summer Miss Ayleen Ragland, teacher at Parker Elementary School, Fort Smith, was assistant in the Catalog department.

Bookmobile for sale—The Pulaski County Library wishes to announce that its old Bookmobile on 1941 Dodge chassis is for sale. If interested, write or call Pulaski County Library, 7th and Louisiana, Little Rock, Arkansas.

Mrs. H. V. Sorrels, librarian, Brinkley High School, attended the graduate library school of Catholic University, Washington, D. C. this summer. In addition to her school's library Mrs. Sorrels had opportunity to use the Library of Congress and the Folger Shakespeare Library. She also visited New York City.

Miss Nelle Castleberry, librarian, Jonesboro Junior High School, and Miss Anne Early, Assistant librarian, Harding College, Searcy, were in graduate library school at Emory University, Atlanta, Georgia, this summer.

Miss Mary Hudgins, librarian,

Army and Navy Hospital, Hot Springs, was enrolled there for a special course for medical librarians. mission fiscal year (July 1, 1951—

GENERAL PRINCIPLES GOVERNING DISTRIBUTION OF STATE AID TO COUNTY AND REGIONAL LIBRARIES FOR CALENDAR YEAR, 1952¹

Adopted December 8, 1951

Arkansas Library Commission Board

I. State aid shall be granted on the basis of five cents per capita, 1940 census. This grant is to be paid quarterly.

II. Any money remaining in the state aid fund June 30, 1952, at the end of the Arkansas Library Commission fiscal year (July 1, 1952—June 30, 1952) shall be distributed equally among county and regional libraries having the following qualifications on January 1, 1952:

1. The one-mill tax for support of the library.
2. Library service for white and Negro in the county or region.²
3. Consolidation of administration of city and county libraries in the county or region.

Payment of this grant shall be made as soon after July 1, 1952, as annual report of the library is received and approved by the Arkansas Library Commission.

III. The use of state aid money shall be unrestricted and shall be left to the discretion of the local library board provided that:

1. The appointment of head librarian is approved by the Arkansas Library Commission Board.
2. At least twenty per cent (20%) of the total budget of the library is spent for books.
3. The county or region's support of the library is not reduced.
4. State aid is not used for the purchase of a site or building.

In accord with these regulations all libraries in Arkansas established under Act 244 prior to January 1, 1952, are receiving quarterly state aid granted on a five cents per capita basis, 1940 census. During 1952 no library is receiving from the continuation fund any less than it has received any year since 1940.

The state aid fund was reduced by the last legislature from $101,000 per year to $75,000. In order to maintain to already established libraries, no state aid was available for establishment of new libraries in 1952. Library authorities do not recommend the establishment of library service in new areas unless the financial support for the library is assured. In Arkansas the legal limit of support is the one-mill tax. No less than this is adequate in any county in Arkansas. It is far from adequate in many counties.

¹State aid shall be given only to libraries giving library service according to Act 244 of the ACTS OF ARKANSAS, 1927, entitled: An Act to Authorize Counties to Establish and Maintain County Free Libraries.

²Plan for library service to Negroes in area must have been approved and state aid check sent to library before January 1, 1952.

The only county without county-wide library service to vote a tax (one-half mill) in the general election, 1950, was Lafayette County. Columbia County extended service to Lafayette County in July, 1951. A grant of state aid money to demonstrate library service was given to the new regional library, Columbia-Lafayette, at the end of the last biennium, June 30, 1951.

Pulaski County and Union County, with already established county libraries, passed the one-mill tax in 1950, making a total of 28 counties having the one-mill tax.

June 30, 1952, after payment of the continuation fund of five cents per capita to all established libraries, the amount remaining in the state aid fund was $13,158.18. This amount was not adequate to establish a new library, even with the addition of $4,033.52, which was allowed to be transferred from unspent salary fund. A total of $17,191.70 was divided among the counties achieving the three goals set by the Arkansas Library Commission by January 1, 1952.

1. The one-mill tax for support of the library.

¹Attorney General ruled that Greenwood District should be treated as a separate county from District of Fort Smith.

2. Library service for white and Negro in the county or region.

3. Consolidation of administration of city and county libraries in the county or region.

Divided among the 25 counties achieving the goals, the amount for each county was $687.66. As soon as annual reports were received and approved, the Arkansas Library Commission sent a check for $687.66 to each of these counties. Placards to be displayed in the library and on the bookmobile have been sent to the following counties, indicating that the three goals were attained: Clark, Columbia, Conway, Craighead, Dallas, Desha, Drew, Franklin, Fulton, Garland, Hempstead, Independence, Jackson, Jefferson, Johnson, Lawrence, Lincoln, Logan, Phillips, Randolph, Sebastian¹, Sharp, Sevier, Washington, Woodruff.

The Arkansas Library Commission congratulates these libraries for their achievements. The primary function of the Arkansas Library Commission is the setting of standards for the libraries in Arkansas. Unless the standards are high, progress cannot be expected. State aid should serve as an incentive to the citizens of the county to improve library service. The state organization and the local community together can reach new goals of better service.
